MEET YOUR OFFICERS

Stuart Hayes, Vice-President of the UFAA is the Manager of the Photo Lab for Lamar State University which is a three-campus regional institution in the Texas system of state-supported schools with a total enrollment of about 12,000.

Stu reports that his lab is a general services operation serving all the needs of news, sports information and public relations as well as the campus in general, academic, social and physical. They maintain a file of current B&W photos and color slides of sports and student campus and classroom activities for use in publications and slide presentations. An online ID card system is under his operation.

The lab is staffed by a coordinator, assistant and secretary and several student assistants. Services done in the lab include B&W and slide copies from photos and flat art; slide duplication; display prints up to 16x20 routinely and 4x8 foot upon special request; B&W processing and printing of University-related photos and color slide processing with negative color processing being sent out.

Only 840 square feet is allocated for the lab but it is modern and air-conditioned. For 35mm, Nikon cameras are used almost exclusively along with a Hasselblad and four lenses for 120 format and a 4x5 view camera.

If you would like further information on Stu's lab, he has a detailed overview that I am sure he would send you upon request. Next month Ralph Hogan will report from the University of New Orleans.

SYMPOSIUM HIGHLIGHTS

Thom Brommerich from the Fishback School of Photography spoke to those attending the Symposium in Denver on the Glen Fishback Exposure System. He emphasized that many photographers do not realize that their meters are deliberately calibrated to relate readings to the amount of light that it will take to produce a gray card value, and they fail to compensate for the readings taken off surfaces with values other than 18% reflectance. Thus they get inconsistent results.

He recommends using fresh developer each time you process film to guarantee consistency and to use a repeatable pattern of agitation with Panatomic-X and Tri-X developed in C-76 (one gallon of D-76 plus 4 ounces of Crane Additive C). Development for 35mm Panatomic-X is 4-1/4 minutes and for Tri-X is 4-1/2 minutes at 68 degrees with 10 seconds agitation at the beginning and 10 seconds per minute thereafter.

The Fishback Exposure system is based on using a spot meter to break down the tones in a scene into seven different categories.

Value 1	Black (d-max)
Value 2	Black with texture
Value 3	Negro skin tone
Value 4	Gray card (18% reflectance)
Value 5	Caucasian skin tone
Value 6	White with texture
Value 7	White (d-min)

Thom's photographs exhibited the success of the Fish-back System and if you would like further information he can be contacted at 5712 Beech Avenue in Orangevale, California 95662.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Some errors have been found in the July Newsletter. William Breadheft's name was misspelled and Vice-President Stuart W. Hayes name was omitted from the officers attending the Business Meeting in Denver. Sorry about that Bill and Stu.

From the 18 responses that I have received from the membership it looks like most favor our old date of April for the Symposium. The final decision on this will be left up to Norb Bybee the Symposium Chairman as he is the one who must make the final plans for the symposium.

I am still looking for articles from each of you members to publish in this, your Newsletter. So far there has been very little from anyone. You do not have to be an accomplished writer, just send me the facts and I will see that it gets published. Each of you has a wealth of information that would be of great value to our members if you will only let me have it to use.

By the way, Bill Breadheft from Connecticut stopped by to see the University of Kentucky's Photo Lab as he passed through the other day while on vacation. I welcome each of you to stop in anytime when you are in the area.

Jack Walas reported that he saw Sol Wollman this summer in Rochester for Kodak's 100th Birthday party. We sure missed both of you in Denver. Also heard from Sol that had to miss our meeting because of a conflict with his attendance at the N.P.P.A Conference at the same time as ours.
